Writing has been around for many, many, many years and will continue to be. It was and is a great way of communicating and expressing oneself. So why not use this form of communication when we work on developing a deeper understanding of self?

When we tune into mediumship with spirit, they can also use this form of communication to get their messages across too. The class is a little look into the world of writing and how tapping into the soul part of self can help grow our understanding, help our intuition, and also become a way that Spirit can communicate with us. This is an interactive workshop.
